TRAVEL

Wellness retreats are often seen as something for women only. But in the US, more and more hotels and resorts are offering spa treatments designed with men in mind. One of these is Cal-a-Vie in Vista, California, which advertises boxing classes in addition to golfing and hydrotherapy using grapes from the hotel's own vineyard. www.cal-a-vie.com

BOOK

At this time of year, many people try to get better organized. If you're one of them, you might like to follow Vicky Silverthorn's advice. Silverthorn is a professional organizer from Britain, who began her career as a PA to people in the entertainment business. In Start with Your Sock Drawer, she provides practical help for both home and business organizing, including how to streamline your home office and how to plan a major move. Published by Sphere, an imprint of Little, Brown Book Group.

DVD

The US still hasn't elected a female president, but it has had three women secretaries of state — Madeleine Albright, Condoleezza Rice and Hillary Clinton. Madam Secretary, now in its fourth season in the US, stars Teá Leoni as Elizabeth McCord, a former CIA agent and university professor who is unexpectedly appointed to the cabinet position. McCord's interaction with her staff provides much of the humour in this deft drama. Among the show's fans is Madeleine Albright, who has a cameo role as herself in the second season.

EXHIBITION

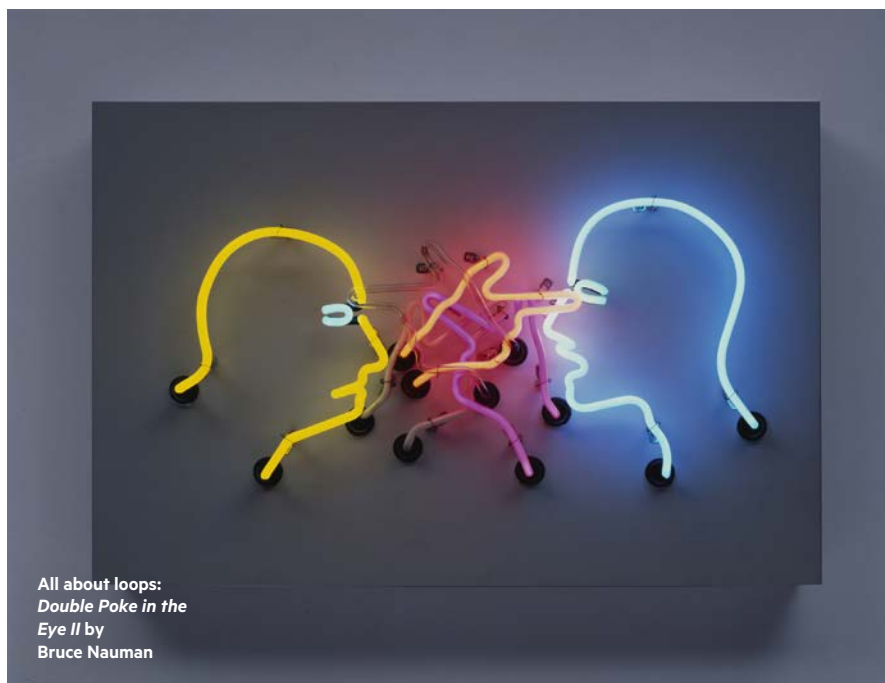

"Never Ending Stories" is the title of an unusual new exhibition at the Kunstmuseum Wolfsburg. It explores the concept of the loop in art, music, film, architecture, literature and history. In addition to a wide variety of displays, the museum has planned a programme of live performances as well as four "Loop After Work" evenings with lectures, snacks and drinks. A hardcover catalogue, available in German and English, costs €45. The exhibition is open until 18 February. www.kunstmuseum-wolfsburg.de
